

OLD DIRECTORS RE-ELECTED AT ALL DISTRICT MEETINGS

Sitting Members of Directorate of the Harlow Co-operative Association Are All Returned to the Board by Delegates.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 18. — Conventions of the Harlow Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, held Monday in each of the twenty-two districts into which the territory producing burley tobacco has been divided for purposes of representation of the growers on the board resulted in the return of the sitting members. In most cases there was no opposition to their re-election.

The directors elected Monday will choose three directors-at-large at the first meeting of the new board October 4. The present directors-at-large are Judge Robert W. Blagham, of Louisville, for Kentucky; Martin L. Harris, of Rising Sun, for Indiana, and Charles H. Woodmansee, of Felicity, Ohio, for Ohio. West Virginia seat, Hon. Elliott Northcott, United States district attorney for the southern district of that state, as its representative on the board. Tennessee is not represented this year, as it did not deliver any tobacco last year and the basis of representation in the election of directors is the tobacco delivered the previous year.

MAGAZINE EXPLOSION IS RECALLED BY HISTORIAN

Colonel "Jim" Maret Recalls Explosion of Old Powder Magazine Which Rocked Maysville and Vicinity.

Colonel "Jim" Maret who is writing a very interesting historical feature every Sunday in the Lexington Leader, yesterday recalled the old powder magazine explosion in this city. He said:

At 2 o'clock on the morning of August 13, 1854, 1,100 kegs of powder (27,500 pounds gunpowder), in a magazine on the hillside in the edge of Maysville, fired by incendiaries, and exploded with terrific effect; 4,000 people within one mile, many hairbreadth escapes, a few persons injured, one dangerously, none fatally; one woman ill at the time died of fright; thirteen houses demolished, all other houses within two miles more or less damaged; brick walls badly sprung, windows and doors blown in and shattered. Loss and damage over $50,000; explosion heard at Poplar Plains, twenty-two miles away, on a steamboat forty-two miles up the Ohio River; at Orangeburg, seven miles, chimneys shaken off the table and windows broken; near Helena, twelve miles, Negroes thrown out of bed; the whole body of water in the river surged toward the Ohio shore; rising suddenly on the shore several feet, 1,600 window panes broken in the Maysville Cotton Mills; stones weighing 100 pounds were thrown entirely across the river into Aberdeen, over a mile from the magazine. Heward of $1,500 for perpetrators, without success.

BRAVERY AND PATRIOTISM OF VETERANS IS RECALLED

Dr. John Harbourn Pays High Tribute To Civil War Veterans In Funeral Service For Mr. Jacob Cablish.

Funeral services for Mr. Jacob Cablish, retired merchant, were held Monday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles Conrad, in East Second street. The services were in charge of Dr. John Harbourn of the Presbyterian church who in the course of his address, took the opportunity to pay a high tribute to the veterans of the Civil War, the deceased having served as a Corporal in an Ohio company during the civil conflict.

Dr. Harbourn said in part:

Another soldier of the Union has been mustered out. Not in great companies, as just after the war, but one by one, in quiet places, without military ceremony or the beat of the drum they are going. It has been so long, nearly sixty years since they laid down their muskets that we almost forget they were soldiers. But they have been soldiers all the while, and they have won in civil life some of their greatest victories. Milton never said a finer thing than this: "Peace hath her victories more renowned than war." Some of the greatest victories have been victories of peace.

I often think that the great captain of the Union forces typified them all. What a hard-hitting soldier he was; yet how great in victory. See him dismissing the Southern soldiers with their horses to their farms. Hear him saying in a time of political clamor "Let us have peace." See him in Berlin when invited to see a grand army review replying: "I am tired of war and its reviews." Hear him saying: "The best way to have a bad law repealed is to enforce it." In other words, the law is the law. Repeat it if you wish, but in the meantime the country's honor and peace is involved in its enforcement. Some of our time might well heed these words. See him when they were planning his burial place replying: "My wife must lie by my side." A man that loved his people and his family. A retiring man. When he spoke his words counted.

In this spirit these soldiers of the Union fought and lived. They did not earn the plaudits of Horace, the Roman poet, "Sweet it is and an honor to die for one's country." They were not to die on the battlefield and be buried with military honors. But they have lived for sixty years helping in the victories of peace. No soldiers have won greater distinction than our Kentucky soldiers. They went out in the enthusiasm of youth. Boys, most of them, giving their young hearts' love to their country. They had to choose in a divided state. Some of the finest citizens of this country were on the other side. These men saw clearer and time and the world's judgment have vindicated their decision. They had to go into battle against their neighbors and kinspeople. It was a time that tried men's souls. They have been like Grant, generous in victory. Today the gratitude of their country thanks them for a reunited Union. The vast importance of America in the world today goes back to the decision of these boys for the Union.

In all this our deceased friend shared. He was a lover of peace and the quiet life. He loved his own home and his own town. He has been one of our best citizens and he has gone beloved by his family and honored by his fellow men. Like many another old soldier he was a member of Christ's church, and so a soldier of the cross.

"I have fought a good fight," said the Apostle. There is always plenty of good fighting to be done by brave and patriotic men and women.

Let us, too, play the men for our homes and the cities of our land. Let us as soldiers of the cross stand for the right even unto death.

REVIVAL AT EAST END CHURCH BEGAN SUNDAY EVENING

Special Religious Effort at the Little Brick Church Opened Sunday—Evangelist Arrives on Tuesday.

Edw. O. Rice, one of the former heads of the great Henry Ford Banks in Detroit sends his congratulations to pastor of the Little Brick church for having gotten Evangelist C. W. Butler for the revival at that church which opened Sunday night.

"While in Detroit," he writes from St. Paul, Minn., "I attended the Detroit Tabernacle where Bro. Butler was pastor. He is a strong forceful preacher. He built up a great work in Detroit. You are to be congratulated in getting him as your evangelist for your church. Wishing you great success."

For a short time, several years ago, the pastor of the Little Brick was one of the cost accountants in the great Ford plant and it was while there in Detroit that he came in contact with Henry Valldad, head of the great Detroit Butcher Supply Co., and the editor of the Detroit Saturday Night, a newspaper, both of which speak very highly of Rev. Butler.

Sunday night the church was filled. Interest is becoming great. Rev. Butler preaches Tuesday night, and we urge those who desire to hear him to be early. The music will start at 7:15 and those who like singing will enjoy the first half hour of song.

One of the strong features of the Little Brick revival will be the singing by the big choir, assisted by the five piece orchestra. Special numbers will be rendered at all services.

Rev. Rayl, who has traveled in evangelistic work as a singing evangelist, nearly from coast to coast, will sing solos at all the night services. Rev. Rayl was trained by a student of one of New York's Grand Opera specialists so in technique he holds his own with the nation's evangelistic singers. But it is Rev. Rayl's object to get across to the people a heart felt message of salvation, and turn their wandering eyes to the Lamb of God, who taketh away the sin of the world.

KENTUCKY'S FORESTS.

In speaking of Kentucky's forests The Leader, of course, means Kentucky's vanished, or rapidly vanishing, forests. Otherwise there would be little use in this discussion. It is suggested by a talk recently made by Mr. Tom Wallace, of the Courier-Journal, who is profoundly interested in the problem of forestry and forest conservation, and whose aid, among other things, that "originally more than one-third of the state was forest. So varied were the types of timber that Kentucky constituted a marvelous natural arboretum. No trail, in those days, led to a lonesome pine."

The pioneers found here one of the most beautiful forest areas in the world, a paradise of game, an Eden of beauty, and so rich in all the finer grades of timber indigenous to the temperate zone that with any proper care and reasonable appreciation it would today constitute one of the greatest resources and natural attractions of the state, and stand as a glorious monument to a people both wise and reverent.

But we have hewed and slashed with a recklessness that is tragic and heart-breaking, and the magnificent pillars which God planted in his first temple are prostrate and broken, like those of Persepolis and Karnak.

Yellow poplars, with a diameter of four feet; walnuts straight, clean and towering; oaks as ancient as those beneath whose boughs the Druids offered sacrifice, or which sustained the golden room of Siggeir "that the Goths and gods had bidden to last for evermore," were felled without conscience and without forethought.

Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, just over the river, have long ago taken practical measures not only to preserve their remaining forests, but to reforest areas now bare of timber, and have appropriated for the use of their forestry commissions all that is necessary to their proper functioning, while the last Legislature in Kentucky abolished the state forestry commission, placed the department under the Department of Agriculture, and made an appropriation of six thousand dollars for a work which is second in importance only to education.

In Louisiana certain public spirited and far-sighted men and corporations have been busy, supported and encouraged by the state government, some five or six years now in the systematic and scientific reforestation of wide areas of cut-over timber land, and today an immense acreage is covered with a fine stand of short-leaf, or loblolly pine, which has been shown to make a growth in eleven years equal to that made by the long-leaf variety in a period of seventy years.

In many other states, notably Michigan, similar enterprises are under way, while in Europe they have been engaged in scientific conservation for a century. Germany has more fine standing timber today than she had fifty or seventy-five years ago.

In Kentucky, which we are pleased to call "God's country," we continue our reckless course and lay waste the "heritage of the Lord" with a fin with a fine disregard for the rights of our children and our children's children, who, at the present rate of destruction, will some day live upon a treeless and almost waterless tract, scared and blasted like the vast plains of China through which the Yellow River tears its way laden with the rich soil and overflowing and drowning crops and people.

As Mr. Wallace says, "prompt and vigorous measures to rescue the remaining forests from destruction and begin the afforestation of lands unfit for farming would save one of Kentucky's greatest natural resources."—Lexington Leader.

THEY WILL RESENT IT

Samuel Gompers' furious attack against President Harding following Friday's message to the congress should have been read by everybody who desires to take an intelligent citizen's part. Everything Mr. Gompers says should be read for citizens need to know what he thinks about things; knowing, they can act intelligently.

Mr. Gompers' statement, one of the most radical and defiant he ever made, was also the most strongly political. For several years it has been more and more apparent that as president of the American Federation of Labor Mr. Gompers desired to vote the federation solid for the democratic party. He was an unofficial member of President Wilson's cabinet and from 1913 to 1921 enjoyed a comfortable seat on the white house steps. The landslide of 1920 was a great blow to him and ever since then he has never lost an opportunity to attack the government as represented by President Harding.

About the only comment necessary on the text of Mr. Gompers' venomous statement is to urge everybody to read it as it appeared in the Sunday papers. We believe that the majority of good Americans will resent the vituperations of this disappointed old man who insanely places the organization he represents above the government of the republic of the United States.—South Bend Tribune.

GETTING OUT OF LEAGUE

It is understood that Nicaragua is to withdraw from the league of nations, the reason being that she is unable to meet her share of the expenses of maintaining the secretariat. Her action is a wise one. Our conception of a waste of public funds is in sending money to Geneva to be spent on outrageous salaries and other expenses of the league entourage. The flattery extended to the western republics in electing a Chilean president of the league assembly fails of its purpose, and the South Americans recognize the futility of contributing further to the league expenses, and that their best hope for outside protection lies in a closer intimacy with the United States.

AMERICANISM STRENGTHENED

Justice Clarke who resigned from the Supreme Court is an able man and a profound lawyer, but it is understood he has left the court in order to devote his time to advocacy of the league of nations and Americanism therein. Senator Sutherland who takes his place interprets the Constitution differently, and is a staunch believer in an unimpaired American sovereignty. The Americanism of our highest court has been substantially strengthened by the change in its personnel.

WAR EXPLOSIVES ARE DISTRIBUTED TO U. S. FARMERS

More than Four Millions of Pounds of Explosive Distributed to Farmers For Use on Their Farms.

Washington, D. C. — More than 4,000,000 pounds of picric acid, prepared in cartridge form for blasting purposes, had been distributed by the Bureau of Public Roads, U. S. Department of Agriculture, to farmers in many states in every section of the country up to September 1 last. This explosive is part of millions of pounds of picric acid left over from the war, and is being distributed to farmers throughout the country by the Federal Government at a nominal charge of seven cents a pound, which expense is solely for the purpose of covering the cost of drying, carting, and distribution. Freight charges, however, are added.

Uncle Sam is giving away this material to farmers, under an Act of Congress. All the farmers pay is the small charge above noted. Stump and rock blasting will be much cheaper to the farmer, as a consequence. Farmers should place their orders quickly, as the supply will not last forever. In order to obtain a necessary quantity of picric acid cartridges, farmers are advised by the Bureau of Public Roads to make application to the Extension Service of their state agricultural college. Farmers will be supplied either through the activities of the college, or its extension service, or they will be advised what steps to take to obtain the necessary supplies. If they will write to the Drainage Division, Bureau of Public Roads, Washington, D. C.

Among the states which received this explosive up to September 1, and some of the amounts each state received, are: California, 72,400 pounds; Connecticut, 20,400 pounds; Georgia, 37,000 pounds; Idaho, 133,100 pounds; Indiana, 24,000 pounds; Iowa, 57,200 pounds; Kansas, 16,100 pounds; Louisiana, 37,300 pounds; Michigan, 804,800 pounds; Minnesota, 1,133,300 pounds; Ohio, 42,000 pounds; Tennessee, 24,100 pounds; and Wisconsin, 1,456,000 pounds.

From Wisconsin, a farmer at Irma reports: "Picric acid is better than twice the same number of sticks of forty per cent. dynamite." From another at Gleason, Wisconsin, comes the report: "Three sticks of picric acid will do more work than four sticks of forty per cent. dynamite." By telegram from a county agent in Minnesota comes the report: "Picric acid explosive giving excellent satisfaction. Farmers report does work of sixty per cent. dynamite on stumping and rock blasting. Demand much greater than our county allotment. Picric a boon to our farmers, mainly of limited means, who are struggling to clear up farms."

All reports on the use of picric acid as an explosive, received by the Bureau of Public Roads from county agents and others throughout the country, highly praise its use in the removal of stumps from farm lands and for other blasting purposes. It is stated unreservedly in these reports that picric acid has proven to be a far better and more efficient explosive for blasting than dynamite.

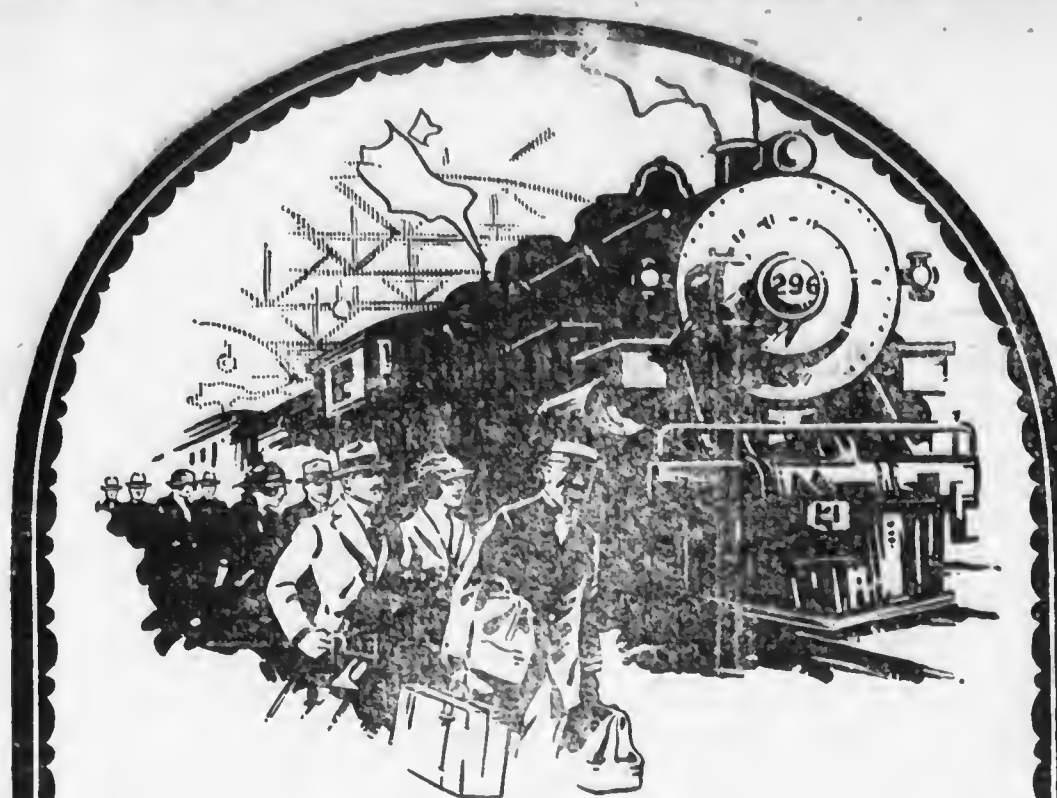

Picric acid is a comparatively safe high explosive and farmers who avail themselves of the privilege offered by the government to obtain it for blasting purposes will find it more insensitive to shock or impact and to friction than the commercial explosives. It is difficult to ignite; and it will burn, at least in small quantities, without exploding. It has been prepared for distribution in cartridges weighing about six ounces, this amount being approximately equal in strength to an eight-ounce cartridge of commercial dynamite used for similar purposes. In recent government tests it has been proven that picric acid keeps indefinitely and is not affected by either heat or cold.

SPORTS

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 16. — All the assistant football coaches on the University of Cincinnati staff have been assigned to assist also in the local high schools. Five of these assistants will thus keep the university in close touch with the preparatory men in the city. All these coaches started to work this week in high schools before the university squad was called out Friday for its first regular work.

The university squad has just two weeks to prepare for the hardest game on the schedule with the University of Pittsburgh here September 30. Practically all 40 men who reported for the first practice Friday came in good physical condition ready to get down at once to rough work. Living quarters have again been established in the Y flat, just off the football field and the men will eat in the University Commons as last year. This affords more time for the men who live in the various suburbs, both for study and football.

Freshman Coach Frank Iker will assist at East High School, the fine new high school at which Nelson Wolfe has charge. With the assistance and fine material at East that school is expected to give Hughes a run for the local championship. Fred McLeod, assistant coach and chief scout will have complete charge of Walnut Hills High School in addition to his duties here.

Many Trains Are Run At A Loss To Benefit The Traveling Public

By a careful compilation of cost figures during the first three months of 1922, it is estimated that the average expense per mile of operating an American railroad passenger train is approximately $1.69. This figure together with the statement of train earnings shown below, offers concrete evidence of the fact that many railroad trains are run at a loss, for the benefit of the traveling public.

Some Louisville & Nashville Train Earnings

Substantiating the statement in the headline of this advertisement, the following figures for the month of June, 1922, should interest the readers of this newspaper:

Train No. 20, which leaves Louisville at 5:45 P. M., and arrives at Lexington at 9:10 P. M., during the month of June, 1922, earned $88 per mile.

This is an accommodation train, making a number of local stops, and run entirely for the convenience of L. & N. patrons living between these points.

These figures are illuminative, in that they show the disposition of this railroad to provide an exceptionally high type of passenger service to its patrons, although during even the busiest vacation season many trains do not earn the actual cost of operation.

No discontinuation of passenger service. Notwithstanding the severe conditions under which the railroads have been obliged to operate during the past two months, the L. & N. up to the present time, has not found it necessary to discontinue any of its passenger train or sleeping car service.

Sam Seltz, student assistant will help at Woodward High, and Ben Winkelman, first assistant to Dr. McLaren, of the University squad will help at Woodward.

Everything is in readiness to handle a crowd for the Pittsburgh game September 30. The 14,000 living alumni of the University have been circularized as to the importance of this contest, and all the civic clubs and organizations have expressed a willingness to help.

Coach Warner of the Pittsburgh team is well known locally as the Carlisle Indians used to make an annual pilgrimage to Cincinnati when Warner was turning out such wonderful teams there. It will be teacher against pupil in this game as Dr. McLaren head coach here was for three years the main cog in Warner's success at Pittsburgh. Coach Warner will have a decided advantage in point of practice because his squad has already been at work two weeks while Cincinnati has had two days.

HELPTHE OLD FOLKS A Helping Hand Extended to Many Old People in Maysville.

The infirmities of age are many. Most old people have a bad back. The kidneys are often weak. Or worn out with years of work. Backache means days of misery. Urinary troubles, nights of unrest. Doan's Kidney Pills have helped to make life easier for many.

The year doing so for old and young. Maysville people are learning this. Read the following local endorsement: Charles Keenan, retired farmer, 81 Wood street, Maysville, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills several different times within the last few years and never had them fail to do me good. My kidneys were in bad shape. The secretions were unnatural and burned terribly in passage. My back kept me in misery during the time the attack lasted and I was feeling generally run down. I went to Wood & Son's Drug Store and got a couple of boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. Doan's reached my case at once and cured me up in good shape. I have always relied upon Doan's since and a few now and then regulate my kidneys and keep them in good condition. Price 60 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Keenan had. Foster-McIlburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y."

rush 1, the body of Mike Shive, 16, was found between two miles he had been driving, a trace chain wound around his neck. A child driving with him stated that an overhanging limb knocked Shive's hat off, and that as he started to get on the wheel after recovering it he slipped and fell between the wheels, frightening them so that they ran, slamming him against a tree.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeannie Price

New York. — Martin Cleary is not going to talk about anything on which he has insufficient information to judge. He was testifying the other day before Justice Burr in the Supreme Court, in a case arising from a domestic controversy. He had explained that the husband in question, who lived in the apartment house where Cleary is doorman, often came home befuddled by liquor. He told of rather gay parties who had gone to the husband's apartment. Then Judge Burr asked him, if he would, nevertheless, consider the man respectable. "Oh, he's respectable enough, I suppose," said Cleary tolerantly but with some doubt. "As respectable as you or I?" questioned the judge. "Well no more respectable than I," was the insistence. "He just has more money." "As respectable as I?" the judge persisted in an effort to get some sort of status for the "respectability." "You would know best about that, Judge," said Cleary.

New York City's condensed way of living these days is nowhere illustrated more concisely than in the fact that motor cycles are taking the place this fall of moving vans. With a box top built on the motorcycle, and the sidecar filled, a good cyclist can transport the contents of the new kitchenette home.

WICKER FURNITURE

Wicker Furniture is enjoying a tremendous vogue, and rightly so. Originally used almost entirely during the summer, its beauty and comfort were so appealing that women of good taste gradually introduced charming pieces of reed and fibre into different rooms in the house for use all the year around. Now, a few well chosen pieces of Wicker Furniture are considered indispensable in the modern home. It is light in weight and the many beautiful finishes in Wicker can now be had with charming color contrasts in upholstery of cretonne or tapestry. In our showing you will find all the new designs very moderately priced.

BRISBOIS

No. 42 W. Second St. THE FURNITURE MAN MAYSVILLE, KY.

A new star took its place in the theatrical heavens the other night, with the opening of "Dreams for Sale." It is Helen Gahagan, pronounced "Gaygen." Unknown heretofore in New York, Miss Gahagan displays a talent, charm, and cultivation which were delightful to the audience. The first-nighters had gone to the Playhouse wondering who this newcomer might be who was intrusted with the leading role in the new Owen Davis play. It left wondering how she could have gained her poise and her evident stage experience without Broadway ever having heard of her. The play itself is an interesting story of a business feud in the Maine woods, and the love affairs of the pulp mill owners son and daughter.

Score one more for the youthful flapper of today. When Helen Duberty, fourteen years old, awoke from sleep the other night in her Brooklyn home, and found a burglar standing over her, she didn't scream or faint. She punched him in the eye. Then she grappled with him and fought him all over the apartment. He escaped at last, but he took no loot with him. He was glad to take himself, alive. Then when the police had searched for him for two days, with no results, Helen took that job to herself, also. She started out early in the morning determined to find him. She watched every poolroom, street crowd and cigar store in the neighborhood, and the neighborhood waterfront. There she spotted him, summoned an officer and had him arrested. He was so impressed that he confessed.

The naturalization age record has been smashed. Dr. J. R. W. Ward, a globetrotter, has just become a citizen of the U. S. A. at the age of 97. He declared that he had seen all other countries and knew that this was the place where freedom and liberty most prevailed. The previous holder of the age record was a German woman of 83, who foreswore the Kaiser's land last year.

K. E. A. SELECTS DATES FOR MEETING IN 1923.

It was decided today by the board of directors of the K. E. A. in session here. An effort is to be made to double the membership of the K. E. A. between now and the time of meeting, it was announced. In an effort to get 10,000 members, the association of county superintendents will be divided into committees and each superintendent will be asked to enlist every teacher in his county in the association. Parochial schools and other church schools have promised their co-operation.

RESCUERS BREAK THROUGH INTO MINE TOMB.

Jackson, Calif., Sept. 18.—The hour of rescue of the 47 miners imprisoned for 21 days in the Argonaut gold mine was at hand today.

After a feverish night work came at 5:25 a. m. that the rescue tunnel from the Kennedy mine had penetrated the Argonaut shaft. A tiny drill hole had been driven through and air was rushing from the Kennedy into the Argonaut shaft.

A few moments previously V. Garbarini, superintendent of the Argonaut had come to the surface announcing "the break is near."

Twice during the night it was believed the rescue crews had broken through.

TWO DONATED TO WINCHESTER BY CARDINALS

Maysville Defeated in Both Saturday and Sunday Contests by Winchester Dodgers—Last Sunday Game Played Here.

The Cards continued their losing streak making a total of four straight defeats when Winchester Dodgers administered a double dose by taking both Saturday's and Sunday's game both times after the locals had jumped in the lead with a two run margin.

McClure, the Card's latest addition, worked in Saturday's game and though a puzzle for seven innings was nipped for seven runs in the last two frames.

Miner had the same experience, going the first five innings without a hit in the Sunday fracas but yielded six hits and five runs in the sixth.

Moss a kid in his teens buried the last two innings of Saturday's game and got credit for the game for Winchester.
